

Homesite Assessment Program

Table of Contents

Introduction

- What is the Homesite Assessment Program?
- Purpose of the Homesite Assessment Program
- What is The Living by Water Project?
- Who will benefit from the program?
- Who should read this manual?

Developing a Homesite Assessment Program

- Needs assessment
- Objective setting
- Deciding how to implement the program

Resources Required for a Homesite Assessment Program

- Partnerships
- Human resources
- Budgeting
- Fundraising for the Home Assessment Program
- Suggested Work Plan

Marketing

- Targeting your audience
- Determining project scope
- Promoting your program - Using a soft sell approach

Hiring and Training Assessors

- Hiring assessors
- Training assessors
- Social marketing

Partner Development

- Local businesses
- Local community organizations

Preparing for Homesite Assessments

- Research on local resources
- Resources available through The Living by Water Project
- Maps
- Insurance
- Arranging homesite visits
- Record keeping
- Tips for the assessor - carrying out a homesite assessment

The Homesite Assessment

- Outdoor portion of the homesite assessment
- Indoor portion of the homesite assessment
- Special situations
- Challenges

Assessor's Recommendations

- Conservation pledges
- Evaluation and Follow-up
- Conclusion

Follow-Up

- Quality control
- Recognition